The diagram illustrates a web browser interface. At the top, there is a teal header bar with a black triangle icon on the right side. Below the header is a large dark gray rectangular area representing the main content of the page. At the bottom, there is a light gray footer bar. This bar contains a white search bar on the left, followed by three checkboxes with labels: "Show all", "Show recent", and "Show favorite". To the right of these checkboxes is another white search bar.
